Frank McDowell Jury Is Locked Up for Night

AFTER FOUR HOURS

Determination of Whether Youth Was Sane Thought To Be Deadlocking Jurors.

ALIENISTS TESTIFY
BOY IRRESPONSIBLE

State's Attorney Demanded First Degree Murder Verdict Against Self-Confessed Slayer.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Clearwater, Fla., June 10.—That the jury was having difficulty in determining whether or not Frank McDowell was responsible for the crime of shooting to death his mother at St. Petersburg last February was indicated tonight when the twelve members reported at 9:30 they had been unable, after more than four hours' deliberation, to reach a verdict.

Judge M. A. McMullen, presiding over the trial, excused them for the night, with instructions to take up consideration of the evidence again tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

The case was given to the jury at 4:45 this afternoon after both sides had rested and counsel had finished arguments.

Two Alienists Testify.

At the closing session of the trial Dr. H. Mason Smith, of Tampa, expert on mental diseases, and Dr. C. Adolphus, formerly of the medical faculty of an Atlanta college where he taught subjects relating to mental diseases, were placed on the stand as witnesses for the defense. Both testified the youthful slayer of his mother and father was suffering from incurable insanity at the time of the double killing, and that he was in an even worse condition at the present time. It was their opinion that he did not know right from wrong then or now. Dr. Smith accounted for his efforts to cover up the crime by the "unfeeling way of thinking" of McDowell.

Replying to a point brought up by Dr. Smith to the effect that McDowell thought he was doing right when he killed his parents, State's Attorney Wilson questioned the accuracy of the physician's knowledge of the defendant's mental condition at the time of the crime. It was strange, he declared, that the slayer did not, if he thought he had done right by killing his sleeping parents, "shoot it out from the house, as is usually the case when people think they have done the right thing."

Questions Alienist's Testimony.

The state's attorney also questioned the alienist's testimony that a person suffering from a mental disease such as that affecting McDowell was incapable of showing emotion under any circumstances. He told the jury that when McDowell was found following the killings he was kneeling at the foot of the bed where the bodies of his parents lay, crying "as though his heart would break."

In his charge to the jury, Judge McMullen reminded them that the law presumes a person to be sane when a plea of insanity is set up as defense for murder, and that it devolves upon the state to prove the contrary.

You Laugh—

When the stage comedian says, "I know he done it, because I seen him when he done it!"

But—
Did you ever stop to count the errors you make in English in the course of a day's conversation—errors carelessly made, perhaps, and which you would not make if you were writing a carefully prepared letter—but errors which "put you down" in the estimation of well educated people?

People are judged largely by first impressions, and the kind of language they speak is one of the most important of these "impressions."

Committee on permanent organization reports.

Temporary Chairman Burton appoints committee to escort Permanent Chairman Frank W. Mondell to the platform.

Permanent Chairman Mondell delivers address.

Committee on rules and order of business submits its report.

Committee on resolutions submits the party platform if ready.

Adjournment until Thursday morning.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cleveland, June 10.—In an atmosphere of quiet deliberation the republican party today began here the national convention that will nominate Calvin Coolidge and pledge a recommitment to the cherished fundamentals of republicanism.

The short session today did no actual work beyond ratifying a convention program prepared in advance, but by tonight all the committees, including that named to draft a platform, had completed most of their work with ease and regularity.

Plea To Aid President.

Most of today's session was given over to the keynote address by Theodore Burton, of Ohio, notable for its serious and impassioned tenor and its lack of a "stage display" and built around an appeal to the party to uphold the hands of the man in the white house.

There was little of the usual confusion and none of the riotous noise.

Venable Charges
'Wild-Eyed' Waste
To Memorial Heads

Randolph and Other Officials Using Organization for Political Purposes, Venable Says.

WILL FIGHT GRAFT
IN PROJECT, HE SAYS

Statement Follows Application for Injunction Against Mountain Owner by Memorial Association.

Charging that "wild-eyed extravagance" has dominated administration of the Stone Mountain Memorial association and that he hampered the progress of the organization solely as a means to protect the interests of the contributing public, Sam H. Venable, part owner of Stone mountain, who granted permission for the memorial to be engraved on the great monolith, Tuesday night issued a formal written statement in reply to proceedings for injunction directed against him in DeKalb county superior court earlier in the day by the memorial association.

At the same time, in an oral statement to representatives of The Constitution, Mr. Venable openly declared that the root of the controversy brought to light by the court action Tuesday lay in the fact that Hollins N. Randolph, president, and other executive officers of the association are using it as a means to personal and political aggrandizement.

He charged that some time ago Hollins Randolph promised him that if allowed to continue in office unopposed until after the democratic convention he would voluntarily resign his position.

"I am prepared to go into the courts and wage a battle to bring about the resignation of Randolph," Mr. Venable asserted in concluding his statement.

Claims of Association.

The petition for injunction filed by the memorial association claimed that Mr. Venable had hindered the association in the work of carrying the gigantic memorial to the south's "lost cause" because officials of the organization declined to allow him to assume full charge of affairs of the memorial and to dictate the policy of the association.

Judge John B. Hutcheson granted a temporary restraining order and set June 28 as a date on which Mr. Venable will show cause why he should not be permanently restrained. Mr. Venable stated Tuesday night that his

VIRGINIA TO CAST
VOTES FOR GLASS

Delegation to National Democratic Meet Will Be Instructed by State Convention Today.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Norfolk, Va., June 10.—Virginia delegation to the democratic national convention will be instructed by the state convention here tomorrow to support Senator Carter Glass for the presidential nomination so long as his name is before the body, party leaders stated tonight.

Chief interest among the state delegates centered around the question of whether the convention will make any expression as to a second choice.

Senator Glass has announced that he is a supporter of William G. McAdoo for the nomination, but State Senator Harry Flood Byrd, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, declared that the Californian was "not available." The chairman further stated that he would fight any effort to obtain a "friendly expression" on the floor of the convention for McAdoo.

"To instruct for a second choice or to give favorable expression to any candidate other than Senator Glass would be to admit the weakness of our first choice," he asserted. "Senator Glass is the most conspicuously available democrat for the democratic nomination. I do not believe the people of Virginia or the nation want McAdoo."

G. O. P. IS WARNED
TO AVOID MELLON
TAX PLAN ISSUE

Senator Fess Proposes Appointment of Commission to Study Question of Taxation Revision.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—Members of the platform committee were somewhat startled Tuesday night when Senator Fess, of Ohio, advised the republicans to avoid making an issue of the Mellon tax plan as urged by President Coolidge.

Fess proposed a commission to study the whole question of further tax revision. This was the first real attempt by the republican leaders of congress to break away from the Coolidge policies and write the viewpoint of republican members of congress into the platform.

Fess mistakenly supposed the resolutions committee was in secret session when he began his argument. Other members of the committee choked him off before he finished, but not until after he had revealed the hand of the senatorial group to make a final attempt to take platform matters into their own hands.

Not Safe, Says Fess.

"I have always favored reduction of higher surtaxes, but I don't believe it would be safe for us to go to the people on this question," Fess said.

That statement so startled the other senators that they hushed him up. Fess, in great confusion, sat down. Later, he said that he was not ashamed of what he had said, though he had understood he was speaking behind closed doors.

Fess also said he favored forbidding of tax exempt securities, but was inclined to believe that this issue is losing in popularity.

He proposed a tax revision commission of eleven members. Three would be chosen by the presiding officer of the senate from members of the senate finance committee, three

HARDMAN ALMOST OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Commerce Man Virtually Announces Candidacy and Promises Statement of His Platform.

Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, whose possible candidacy for governor has been discussed for the past several weeks, was in Atlanta Tuesday and practically announced that a statement of his candidacy will be forthcoming within the next few days.

He stated that he is giving the matter very careful consideration and his close personal friends openly declare he will soon announce.

On being asked for a statement regarding his suggested candidacy, Dr. Hardman submitted the following, which he had prepared for the press of the state:

"Many friends from practically every section of Georgia are urging me to enter the race for governor in the approaching democratic primary.

"Since the entries will close on June 21, I will make my decision within a few days and will make it known to the public.

Thanks His Friends.

"In the meantime, I am taking this opportunity of thanking my friends, and their interest and activities in my behalf and assuring them of my personal gratitude. If I should conclude to become a candidate for governor of Georgia, it will be solely because of a desire to serve the public and to promote the interests of the state, and it is needless for me to say that I shall present at an early date my views on the public questions at issue and will endeavor to suggest a program of real constructive and progressive achievement for the state of Georgia.

DEMENTED MOTHER
TRIES TO DROWN
HER TWO CHILDREN

Constant Worry Over Illness of Husband Believed To Have De-ranged Her Mind.

HEADS OF CHILDREN
HELD IN WATER

Mrs. G. V. Laney Held by Police While Relatives Come to Aid of Two Small Laney Children.

With an unbalanced mind for several days, caused, neighbors assert, from worry over the critical illness of her husband and other sickness in the family, Mrs. G. V. Laney, 28, of 201 Seaboard avenue, Tuesday afternoon attempted to drown her two daughters, Katherine, age 4, and Louise, age 7, by holding them under a gutter spout during the thunderstorm.

Call Officers Williams and Cooper, who rushed to the children's rescue when summoned by neighbors, brought mother and daughters to police barracks after first taking them to Grady hospital where surgeons said no harm had been done.

When placed in the matron's ward Mrs. Laney was unable to give any intelligent account of why she should try to kill her little girls. She seems to be suffering from an obsession that some one is trying to chloroform her, and she has police guards.

Mrs. Laney's husband is near death from pneumonia in the Grady hospital. He has been ill for some months, it is said.

Police were told by neighbors, it is said, that Mrs. Laney at times has called to railroad employees working near her home, asking for protection from some one who she said was trying to chloroform her, and rob her.

The two little girls are being cared for by relatives pending sanity examination of the mother.

BROWN RESIGNS
AS PHONE HEAD

Veteran Official Becomes Chairman of Board—Ben S. Read Elected To Succeed Him as President.

J. Epps Brown, president of the Southern Bell and Cumberland telephone companies, and one of the south's best known business men, has resigned office and has been elected chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Bell company, according to announcement Tuesday.

Ben S. Read, president of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, Denver, Col., a native of Tennessee, formerly an official of the Cumberland company and well known in the south, has been elected to succeed Mr. Brown as president of the Southern Bell company. Directors of the Cumberland company have not yet acted upon Mr. Brown's resignation or elected his successor.

Frederick H. Reid, who has been vice president of the Southern Bell and Cumberland companies, will succeed Ben S. Read as president of the Mountain States company, having formerly been general manager of that company. His office in the southern group has not yet been filled.

Brown to Recuperate Health.

The three officials will assume their new duties as soon as the changes involved can be worked out.

Mr. Brown's determination to relinquish the active duties as chief executive of the Bell system properties in this section was prompted by his desire to devote all his efforts to regaining his health, impaired by a nervous breakdown two years ago.

Although much improved in health, following a long rest, Mr. Brown decided not to continue the active duties involved in directing the affairs of the rapidly growing telephone industry and tendered his resignation early in June.

He was offered and accepted the chairmanship of the board of directors of the Southern Bell company, the victory gained by Johnson and Howard, who renewed their own cases, were greeted by wild cheering on the part of their delegations as well as many negro spectators.

Before taking up these two cases the committee voted practically unanimously to

COOLIDGE THUMBS

ON EXTRA SESSION

Threatened Delay in Paying Cash Bonus Is Averted by Use of Other Current Funds.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES

Washington, June 10.—President Coolidge has turned thumbs down on an extra session of congress, and the bonus muddle clears up and the other dilemmas left by congress, when it rushed away in a hurry, are gradually being adjusted.

Threatened delay of six months or more in payment of the bonus has been averted. Arrangements were made Tuesday by Director Lord, of the budget, to pay the clerks who will administer it out of unexpended and current funds appropriated for other purposes. The work will go forward immediately as planned.

Other troubles began to clear up, except the income tax tangle. No solution has been found for this complication, and those who paid all their taxes in a lump sum on March 15—numbering a million—likely will have to wait until congress returns in December before they can get the refund of 25 per cent allowed under the new law. Funds for administration of the bonus and for tax refunds were in the deficiency appropriation

JOHNSON FACTION
DEFEATS PHILLIPS

Negro Committeeman From Georgia Wins in Cleveland—Mulvihill Delegates Unseated.

Cleveland, June 10.—Affirming the action of the national committee, the credentials committee of the republican national convention voted overwhelmingly today to seat the delegation from Georgia headed by Henry Lincoln Johnson, negro national committeeman from that state, and that from Mississippi under Perry W. Howard, a negro assistant United States attorney general.

Immediately after the decision in the Mississippi case, the delegation from that state formally ratified the election of Howard as national committeeman to succeed Mr. J. Mulvihill, of Vicksburg, whose delegation lost its fight for a place on the convention floor.

Two Major Contests.

The Georgia and Mississippi contests were the major ones, appealed to the credentials committee and after they had been disposed of, the committee went into night session to clean up the appeals in contests from Texas, the District of Columbia and the tenth Tennessee district. Scipio A. Jones abandoned his appeal from the decision of the national committee in seating the delegates at large from Arkansas under National Committeeman H. L. Kennel. The victories gained by Johnson and Howard, who renewed their own cases, were greeted by wild cheering on the part of their delegations as well as many negro spectators.

Before taking up these two cases the committee voted practically unanimously to

LOWDEN REMOVAL
LETS DOWN BARS
FOR ALL COMERS

Definite Refusal To Consider Place Advances Hopes of Hoover, Harbord and Beveridge.

CONFERENCE IS HELD
BY CABINET MEMBERS

Charles Curtis, Republican Whip of Senate, Also Mentioned—Legion Is For Harbord.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—Some of the vice presidential booms which have been running in the field so far began moving up to the front today with the growing acceptance of former Governor Lowden's determination not to take the nomination.

The immediate result of Mr. Lowden's removal from his place at the head of the long list of possibilities was to advance into new positions of prominence the candidacies of James G. Harbord, a former deputy chief of staff of the army and now head of the Radio Corporation of America; Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Charles Curtis, of Kansas, republican whip of the senate.

In addition several of the originally discussed possibilities, including Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, were given a new boost in the hope that with a broken field there might be a dark horse selection.

Cabinet Conference.

The whole situation was discussed for nearly three hours late in the day at a conference in the quarters of Secretary Weeks, attended by most of the members of President Coolidge's cabinet who are here, leaders of the senate and house, and chiefs of several state delegations. Another discussion of the same matter took place in the suite of Frank W. Stearns, personal representative of President Coolidge, and several powerful words took place tonight. No conclusions were reached definitely but the result seemed to be a turn in the tide which has been running during the week.

The last hope of those who had been virtually hoping against hope for two days that former Governor Lowden might reconsider his declaration of Sunday that he would not accept the nomination went glimmering today when a sealed letter arrived from the former Illinois governor with instructions that it be opened and read should his name be presented to the convention. It became known that the letter was a flat notice of declination.

A rising tide for General Harbord became noticeable after the conference in the suite of Secretary Weeks and after delegates to the convention who are members of the American Legion had endorsed the leader of the marine brigade at Belleau wood. It lacked

HILL SUSTAINED
BY STATE BOARD

Ballard Refuses To Administer Portion of Educational Fund Following Board's Decision.

The state board of education Tuesday adopted a resolution sustaining the appeal of Walter B. Hill, supervisor of rural negro schools in Georgia, from the request for his resignation made by Dr. N. H. Ballard, state superintendent of schools. The resolution declares the request of Dr. Ballard to be void and of no effect.

Following this action by the board, Dr. Ballard refused to administer that portion of the fund furnished the state by the general education board in New York, which covers Mr. Hill's salary and expense account, thus eliminating the position and depriving Georgia both of the services of Mr. Hill or of any other person in his place, it is stated.

The amount involved, which will thus be withdrawn from the state, is given as $5,000 by Dr. Ballard. Mr. Hill's salary was $3,500 per year and the remaining $1,500 covers his annual expenses.

Four members of the state board, in addition to Dr. Ballard, were present at the meeting and it is understood that the resolution upholding

BATTLE IS LAUNCHED
AGAINST THE KLAN

Charles F. Thwing Urges Republican Party To Openly Declare for "Government by Law."

COMMITTEE IN BATTLE
OVER POSITION ON KLAN.

Cleveland, June 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heated argument over the inclusion of a Ku Klux Klan plank in the platform broke out in the platform drafting committee after midnight. Members debated in loud voices the advisability of touching the subject at all, taking a middle of the road stand, or opposing the Klan openly.

The majority of the committee was said to be opposed to take an open stand against the Klan.

One suggestion which was receiving consideration was that the platform declare for religious freedom as guaranteed by the constitution.

"Such a declaration will make votes for us," one member shouted. "Why irritate the Klan," another member rejoined. "Let's either make a straightout declaration or leave the subject alone."

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—Rumbles of thunder sounded over the canvas surface of the republican national convention at its opening session Tuesday, warning of the La Follette storm which every one expects to break as soon as the old-party conventions are over.

There is an oppressive, sultry calm about this gathering, which in view of the rumblings now beginning to be heard, may be an ominous weather sign.

The most marked disturbance came during the session of the platform committee when regular republicans hissed La Follette spokesmen who were attempting to get their principles before the resolutions committee.

Governor Blaine, of Wisconsin, appeared before the resolutions committee and read the resolutions adopted by the La Follette delegates Sunday night, asking the convention to denounce Daugherty and Fall and those who have been exposed in corruption at Washington.

Outburst of Hisses.

As he finished an outburst of mingled hisses and applause occurred, Edgar J. Adams, Oregon delegate, moved to send the statement back to La Follette. He too was greeted with hisses and applause. Chairman Warren of the resolutions committee ruled that Blaine was in order in

PLANS ARE MADE FOR PROH PLANK

Cleveland, Ohio, June 10.—Fighting to prevent the incorporation in the republican national platform of a light wine and beer plank a section of prohibition advocates met today in the Y. M. C. A. to draft a plank for submission to the resolution committee. Acting independently of the Anti-Saloon league, Clinton N. Howard, representing the National Reform association, Rev. Charles Scanlon, of the Moral Welfare board of the Presbyterian church; Robert Watson, appearing for the World Prohibition federation, and Canon Chase, representing the New York Civic league, began work today in drafting a plank which they will urge adopted here. They will present a similar plank to the democratic national convention in New York City.

In the tentative draft prepared by Canon Chase opposition is declared to any change in the Volstead act. A light wine and beer amendment would, the draft declared, increase the difficulties of law enforcement.

"The importance of the enforcement of the prohibition law necessitates that it be placed in a department independent of all others," the tentative draft declared, "under the direction of the president, and that the appointments be made free from party politics and partisan control."

The preamble of the resolution in its present form denounces the corruption which it asserts incident to the present methods of prohibition enforcement, asserting that new methods are necessary "to protect the public welfare from those officials whose duties put them in special danger of betraying the common weal."

Now that warm weather is here, we can see what the girls had up their sleeves all winter.—Reading Times.

Next Maneuvers Of Fleet Staged In Pacific Ocean

Washington, June 10.—The full American fleet, comprising both Atlantic and Pacific divisions, will mobilize and maneuver in the Pacific about the Hawaiian islands this coming winter and spring, the navy department has announced.

After the maneuvers in the vicinity of the Hawaiian islands, the battle fleet, consisting of 12 first line fighting vessels, may go to Australia and New Zealand.

Mobilization of the fleet will begin the first of the year. The major maneuvers will be held in the spring.

Joint fleet maneuvers have not been held in the Pacific in several years. The annual exercises have taken place for the last few years in the Atlantic, and about the Panama canal.

It had been planned originally to hold the past winter's maneuvers off Hawaii, but they were transferred to the West Indies. The navy department has decided to carry out the plan this year. It has been under consideration for some time.

mously against entertaining protests from former Governor Warmoth, of Louisiana, and a contesting delegation from Porto Rico against the seating of the delegates from that state and that territory. In neither case had proper papers been filed and the national committee had refused to entertain either plea for that reason.

Agreement Reached.

The failure of M. J. Mulvihill to lend his support to a written agreement entered into with the Howard faction for a consolidation of the contending republican forces in Mississippi proved the turning point in the contest from that state.

Through his counsel Mulvihill argued that he was without authority to bind his section of the committee, but committee members informed him that even if the agreement was rejected by his supporters he should have lent his personal support to it.

As was the case before the national committee, a letter written by President Harding shortly before his death was a deciding factor in the decision in the Georgia case. In the letter written to C. Bascom Sleep, one of the members of the national committee, commissioned to recognize the party in Georgia, President Harding said he had made a "blunder" in recognizing J. L. Phillips as head of the party organization in Georgia.

Holderness Testifies.

Reviewing the records before the national committee, Sidney Holderness, of Carrollton, Ga., appearing for the contestants, said the Johnson faction participated in a consolidation meeting of Georgia republicans held at the instance of President Harding and officials of the national committee, and later had bolted.

The Phillips organization, he contended, was the regularly constituted one recognized by the national committee and that the delegates elected at the convention called by that organization should be seated over the Johnson delegation. Holderness concluded by introducing Mrs. W. J. Tilson of Atlanta, chosen by the Phillips organization as the associate national committeewoman.

Wants Full Record.

"I insist on the full record," broke in Johnson, "introduce also your national committeewoman."

Holderness replied that the Phillips organization had not elected a national committeewoman but had suggested one—J. L. Phillips—and that he had withdrawn.

Mrs. Tilson made a plea for the Phillips delegation and promised that the republicans in Georgia would poll 100,000 votes in the coming election if "things go as we hope they will and you will stand by us."

In the Texas case, the committee unanimously approved the action of the national committee in seating the delegation under National Committeewoman R. B. Creager over that headed by E. H. R. Green, of Terrill, son of the late Hettie Green.

No Tennessee Contest.

J. M. Johnson, on behalf of himself and H. C. True, contestants for the seats of G. T. Taylor and Wyman Wilkerson for the tenth Tennessee district, announced that in the "interest of harmony in the republican party in Tennessee" the contest would be withdrawn.

Johnson said privately that he and True had been offered seats in the convention with one-half of a vote each, but declined to compromise on that basis.

Taking up the district of Columbia contest next the committee affirmed the action of the national committee in seating William T. Calliher and Thomas L. Jones, over Aaron Bradshaw and John T. Rhines.

definiteness, however, because many of the delegations remained to be sounded out.

Participating in the conference in Mr. Weeks' quarters were Secretaries Mellon and Wilbur, Postmaster General New, C. Bascom Sleep, President Coolidge's secretary, James W. Good, western Coolidge manager; Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania; Representative Longan, of Ohio; Senator Wadsworth, of New York, and David Mulvane, republican national committeeman from Kansas.

Indorsed By Legion.

While the meeting was in progress Secretary Roosevelt and Senator Reed left to ascertain the sentiment of the American Legion men regarding General Harbord. They came back with the legionaires' indorsement of Harbord and more discussion followed. All agreed that the conference consisted mostly of talk with the merits of some half dozen or more men under discussion.

Among those whose names were mentioned in addition to General Harbord, Senator Curtis, Secretary Hoover and former Senator Beveridge were Judge William S. Kenyon, President Burton of the University of Michigan; Representative Sanders, of Indiana; Charles G. Dawes and Governor Hyde, of Missouri.

The situation, it was agreed rather generally, has not reached the point where it was considered necessary to make a request of President Coolidge that he abandon his hands-off policy and indicate his choice. Such a course only was considered as a possible necessity should tomorrow's conference fail to develop any unanimity of opinion.

Watson Holds Delegates.

It was reported that Senator James Watson, of Indiana, for whom Indiana's delegates are instructed, was considering release of his delegates, but when the start of the Beveridge movement became known to him it was said Senator Watson had decided to hold his delegates for a while.

The Beveridge people were very active and as one of their first moves invited the Kentucky delegation to join them.

Representative Robert L. Bacon, of New York, announced he would work for the nomination of Beveridge, and said:

"Beveridge is the kind of man the republicans need to carry our message to the people. President Coolidge will not make many speeches but will issue statements and talk over the radio. The people want to see a part of the national ticket. I do not seriously fear the fact that he was in the progressive party. It is true he was with Roosevelt, but he is back in the party now."

COOLIDGE THUMBS ARE TURNED DOWN

bill which failed in the last-minute jam in the senate.

No Extra Session.

As the situation began to clear up, word came from the white house that the president does not intend to call an extra session of congress. Because of the numerous demands, had been made that congress be called back.

Stronger than these demands, however, are those from progressives and insurgents, who want congress to return for enactment of farm and railroad legislation. Some of these saw in the dilemma a lever to get congress back. Coolidge does not intend to let this happen.

The solution of the bonus difficulty came Tuesday as a result of a series of conferences between President Coolidge and various officials, including Director Lord, Assistant Secretary of War Davis and Adjutant General Robert C. Davis, in general charge of bonus administration. It appeared at first that the payments, beginning next March, might be held up for six months or more beyond that time because of lack of funds to pay the 4,000 clerks who will make out the preliminary papers and handle records and claims.

Begin This Week.

The work will go ahead speedily, getting under way by the end of this week, Assistant Secretary of War Davis announced Tuesday. Until July 1, unexpected balances from last year's appropriations will be used, he explained. After that, current appropriations for the war department and other branches will be allocated for his work to be replaced by congress returns in December.

Davis said that about $2,000,000 would be required for administration purposes until January next year. Within a few weeks he expects the machinery to be so well oiled that it can handle 60,000 claims a day.

The president has directed Secretary of Interior Work to do everything possible to assist these affected by failure of the reclamation bill. He believes a law passed earlier in the session to give an extension of time for settlers on reclamation projects to meet their payments can be broadened to afford some relief.

They Follow the Mode in a Dignified Manner the Conservative Woman Likes

So many times a woman says, "I want a pretty silk frock. It must be very good looking, but it must not be conspicuous. For I must wear it on many occasions and I don't want to tire of it." It is frocks of this type that she has in mind. So, when we had this opportunity to buy this lot of silk frocks at a special price, we grasped it!

You'll notice that the materials are exceptionally good. Flat crepe, crepe de chine and lustrous satin crepe of good, heavy weight.

They're fashioned in smart tiered styles with long sleeves trimmed with heavy lace, in draped models with short sleeves, in accordion pleated models and long-waisted affairs with circular tucked tops. Some have capelet backs, some have draped skirts, some trimmed with buttons, some embroidered.

And the colors are the good, conservative colors of summer—copen blue, bisque, black, cocoa and green. One can't get along without at least a frock or two of this type in one's wardrobe.

PIONEER MERCHANTS ENTERTAIN JUNIORS

More than 200 Atlanta retail merchants listened Tuesday night to veteran business men tell of the history of Atlanta's progress as shown in the advancement of the city's stores from small general mercantile establishments to labyrinthian department stores at a banquet at the Cecil hotel.

W. W. Orr, who has been in business in Atlanta 36 years, and Beaumont Davidson, who is three years Mr. Orr's "senior" in business here, delivered addresses in behalf of the juniors of the Retail Merchants association, while Clarence Haverly spoke for the seniors.

The gathering, attended by wives of many of the members, was full of interest and enthusiasm for Atlanta's future, because of the vivid stories of the city's past. The days not so long ago—when the stretch on Peachtree street north of where the Piedmont hotel stands, was occupied by residences, were recalled. Contrasts were so great that it appeared strange to hear senior members tell of what Atlanta was "right after Sherman's devastation by fire and pillage."

Veterans Speak.

Henry Johnson, of Chamberlin-Johnson-Dubose company; R. E. O'Donnelly, of the Keely company, and W. J. Wood, of Rhodes-Wood Furniture company, were the speakers who have been in business in Atlanta more than half a century. Mr. Johnson's and Mr. O'Donnelly's era of progressive enterprise here is marked by 57 years, while that of Mr. Wood is 54 years.

Other seniors who told the younger retailers how they took the hard knocks to succeed—the talking of the evening being confined to those who had been in business 25 years or more were Frank Beck, 42 years; M. M. Davies, 40; W. O. Fouts, 40; J. J. Beck, 38; H. A. Miller, 37; George Beck, 36; C. J. Kumpf, 36; and George H. Faus, 35.

A. L. Myers, of the Myers-Miller Furniture company, presided and introduced each speaker.

DEATHS IN GEORGIA SHOW BIG INCREASE

Deaths in Georgia from diseases which affect children, particularly, showed a marked increase in 1923 over 1922, according to figures taken from the report of Dr. W. A. Evans, director of the bureau of vital statistics of the state board of health. Total deaths in the state during 1923 were 2,300 more than during 1922. The figures show an increase of 1,200 among the whites and 1,100 among the negroes, an increase of 6.9 per cent among both races.

"There was a decrease in the number of deaths from certain communicable diseases," the report reads, "while others affecting particularly children showed a marked increase. The records show a decrease of 113 deaths from typhoid fever, 95 from malaria and 137 from diphtheria, while deaths from whooping cough increased 124 and measles 342. There was an increase of 51 deaths from cancer, with a decrease of 39 from tuberculosis. The greatest increase was found among those deaths due to diseases of the respiratory tract, with 2,908 deaths in 1922 and 3,612 in 1923, an increase of 704. Of this increase 579 were due to pneumonia.

"These figures do not include the increase in influenza from 1,014 in 1922 to 1,500 in 1923, a difference of 486. There was also an increase of 519 deaths ascribed to diseases of the circulatory system, with 338 in 1922 and 857 in 1923, an increase of 519. Bright's disease increased from 2,903 to 3,139. Diseases of the nervous system from 2,822 to 2,985, of the digestive system from 3,090 to 3,069, with an increase of 187 due to old age, and 36 to conditions peculiar to early infancy.

Suicide on Wane.

"There were 15 less suicides in 1923 than in 1922, with 181 in 1922 and 166 in 1923. Accidental deaths increased from 1,451 to 1,533 and homicides decreased from 569 to 511. Firearms were used in 110 suicides in 1922 and 103 in 1923. The careless handling of firearms resulted in 141 deaths in 1922 and 140 in 1923 as compared with 141 deaths in 1922 and 144 in 1923 caused by railroad accidents. Firearms were used in 427 homicides in 1922 and 379 in 1923.

RAILROADS LIABLE IN CONSTRUCTION OF BRIDGE PASSES

A railroad is liable for proper construction of a bridge crossing its tracks, and not the county in which the bridge is located, was a decision given Tuesday morning by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the northern district of Georgia.

The case arose when G. Hardin, of Missouri, brought suit against Hall county. Hardin met with an accident when his machine jumped an embankment where a bridge crosses Southern railway tracks in Hall county. Judge Sibley held that the county could not be responsible for the bridge when it was constructed by the railroad.

PEACHTREE SALE SETS NEW HIGH LAND VALUATION

The sale of a lot on Peachtree street, a short distance north of Third street, for $125,000, is said to have established a record in front foot valuations for property on Peachtree between the Georgian Terrace hotel and Tenth street. Sam Finley purchased the property from the Maxwell Realty company.

The tract has a frontage of 104 feet on Peachtree and a depth of 400 feet. The front foot valuation set by the deal is more than $1,200.

PLAN TO PROTECT FISHING INDUSTRY MAY BE PUBLIC HERE

A proposed bill, reorganizing the game and fish department of the state, and providing for the extension and development of Georgia's coastal fishery industry, which was drafted at the meeting here of the game and fish committee of the Georgia general assembly, was made public today.

The main purpose of the bill, as set forth in the draft, "is to provide means of protecting and developing the oyster and shrimp resources of our state." To accomplish this result provisions are made for the leasing of all state owned oyster lands at a nominal rent, creation of special officers to supervise and direct activities in the state tide-water regions, and to provide an adequate system of patrol and inspection of all fisheries.

One of the most important provisions of the bill, it is stated, is that it excludes all non-residents of the state from leasing oyster lands or from fishing in Georgia waters for commercial purposes. All "inside fishing" by aliens would be prohibited as well as restrictions to outside waters as defined by law.

The bill purposes to take the department out of politics, and to place it on a strictly business basis by employing only those who prove their fitness for the work, members of the committee stated.

GAS COMPANY HEARINGS BEGIN IN FEDERAL COURT

Arguments in the hearing on a petition of the Atlanta Gas company for valuation of its properties were begun Tuesday morning before Cam D. Dorsey, special master appointed by the United States court to the northern district of Georgia.

Evidence in the matter of valuation of properties went into the master's records several weeks ago. Attorneys for the Georgia public service commission began the argument. Attorneys for the power company will conclude the hearing.

Following preparation of the special master's report, a decision will be rendered by the United States court.

GREEKS TO OPPOSE CLEMENCY PETITION

Notice was filed with the state prison commission Tuesday through attorneys, that the Atlanta Greek community would actively oppose the petition for clemency filed with the commission by Will Johnson, a negro, sentenced to hang for the murder of Nick Poulos, an Atlanta Greek, on November 4, 1922.

Johnson is now in Fulton tower awaiting execution.

HUNNICUTT CHARGES DESPOTISM TO BROWN

G. F. Hunnicutt, editor of the Southern Cultivator, has formally made entrance into the race for commissioner of agriculture and in doing so makes a vigorous attack on the present commissioner, J. J. Brown.

He charges despotism, alleging that Commissioner Brown has distributed patronage among his family with lavish hands, and he says he has "hundreds of specific instances where the commissioner has failed to do his duty" and that he will make them public later.

Mr. Hunnicutt says that the reason Commissioner Brown was "white-washed" by the legislature after the last summer session was because he distributed patronage so freely among the members of the legislature that he practically controlled the action of members.

He holds that instead of distributing agricultural positions among the agricultural class Mr. Brown has favored wealthy business men, lawyers, doctors and editors simply for their "political pull."

Mr. Hunnicutt attacks the farm demonstration work of Commissioner Brown saying that when a farm-demonstrator gets farmers to assemble their hogs and poultry, then "Brown's man is called upon to conduct the sale, so the bureau of markets can claim a successful sale."

Mr. Hunnicutt declares that if elected he will reduce expenses, cut down the offices and reorganize the department along purely agricultural lines.

BIG BLAST EXPECTED IN KILAUEA VOLCANO

Hilo, T. H., June 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Professor T. W. Jaggar, the volcanologist who hurried back here to observe the eruption of Kilauea, is of the opinion that a big explosion of the volcano is imminent. This is based on Sunday's explosion and landslide, the first since May 30, and the fact that noises like dashing waves are arising from the pit. A blue color in the steam in the middle of the pit shows the presence of gas. The cracks in the floor of the pit have widened since yesterday and there have been numerous earthquakes. Yesterday's explosion was preceded by a short series of earth tremors.

Honolulu, June 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sunday's promise of further activity in the volcano Kilauea has been borne out. There were five earthquakes yesterday in the section of the island of Hawaii in which the volcano is located, including a violent one at 11 a. m.

Steam was emitted from the crater all day, and last night there was a heavy, dark outpouring, the nature of which could not be established in the darkness.

BAPTIST MISSION BOARD IN ANNUAL MEET IN ATLANTA

The annual meeting of the Baptist home mission board, with representatives present from most of the seventeen states comprising the Southern Baptist convention, opened Tuesday morning at the First Baptist church. The plan of Dr. B. D. Gray, corresponding secretary, that a budget of $1,450,000 be established through the coming convention, was adopted. Two hundred thousand of this amount will be used to reduce the floating debt of the board, it was specified.

Officers of the board were reelected as follows: Dr. John F. Purser, president; Dr. B. D. Gray, corresponding secretary; Dr. W. H. Major, recording secretary; C. S. Carnes, treasurer. A committee was named to prepare a statement of the board's appreciation of the long services of Dr. A. E. Brown, of West Asheville, N. C., as superintendent of the mountain mission school system for the past twenty-two years. Dr. Brown died and was buried at his home May 30. Dr. J. W. O'Hara, associate superintendent, will have charge of the school work until such time as a permanent successor to Dr. Brown is chosen. The administration committee was likewise instructed to secure as soon as it can find the proper man a successor to Dr. Austin Crouch, assuperintendent of the department of church extension, Dr. Crouch having recently gone to the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. J. T. Holleman, Beloved Atlantan, Is Laid to Rest

Funeral services for Mrs. J. T. Holleman, well known Atlanta woman who died Monday night at a private sanitarium, were held at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the residence, 1600 Ponce de Leon avenue. Rev. Frank Burr officiating. Interment was in West View cemetery with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge. Pallbearers were George Lester, G. M. Stout, Bernard Boykin, Ben Ragsdale, Earl Candier and E. H. Inman, Jr.

Mrs. Holleman was the wife of J. T. Holleman, of the firm of Robson & Holleman, realtors. She was well-known in both civil and religious circles and was a member of the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., the Atlanta Woman's club, and the First Church of Christ, scientist. Mrs. Holleman had been a resident of Atlanta for 35 years, having moved here in 1891 from Houston county.

WIDOW WITH $15,000 to invest wants something safe, with a good rate of interest.

The above advertisement was inserted in a Norfolk newspaper. It brought scores of replies. One writer guaranteed not less than 13%. Another assured the widow that his proposition would net from 35% to 45% profit.

Of course your wife would never be so foolish as to speculate and lose. But—what does it matter whether she looks to Wildcat Oil for an income or to the gilt-edge stock of a New England railroad, if in the end she has nothing to live on?

The man who really cares what becomes of his wife and children takes no chances. And on that account he favors the monthly-income plan of the Massachusetts Mutual—a plan that would assure her a substantial check each month, as long as she lives.

Platform of La Follette Presented in Cleveland

Rescue of Government and Industry From Private Monopoly Called Paramount Issue.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cleveland, June 10.—A proposed platform embodying the views of the La Follette insurgents was placed before the republican resolutions committee by the delegation from Wisconsin.

It declares the paramount issue to be the rescue of government and industry from the grip of private monopoly; pledges a house-cleaning in the government departments at Washington, and proposes reform of railroad, tax, tariff, banking, conservation and agricultural legislation.

Public ownership of railroads and water power is advocated, the Mellon tax plan is condemned, and congressional action is demanded to promote and protect farm cooperative organizations and to lower farm freight rates.

Text of Platform.
The great issue before the American people today is the control of government and industry by private monopoly.

For a generation the people have struggled patiently, in the face of repeated betrayals by successive administrations, to free themselves from this intolerable power which has been undermining representative government. Through control of government, monopoly has steadily extended its absolute dominion to every basic industry.

In violation of law, monopoly has crushed competition, stifled private initiative and independent enterprise, and without fear of punishment now exacts extortionate profits upon every necessity of life consumed by the public.

The equality of opportunity proclaimed by the Declaration of Independence and asserted and defended by Jefferson and Lincoln as the heritage of every American citizen has been displaced by special privileges for the few, wrested from the government of the many.

His Monopoly System.

That tyrannical power which the American people lent to a king they will not longer endure from the monopoly system. The people know they cannot yield to any group the control of the basic lines of the nation and preserve their political liberties. They know monopoly has its representatives in the halls of congress, on the federal bench, and in the executive departments; that these venal agents, rather than the nation's natural resources, nullify acts of congress by legislative veto and administrative favor, invade the people's rights by unlawful arrests and unconstitutional searches and seizures, direct our foreign policy in the interest of predatory wealth, and make war as the tool of the few.

The usurpation in recent years by the federal courts of the power to nullify laws duly enacted by the legislative branch of the nation and plain violation of the constitution, Abraham Lincoln, in his first inaugural address, said:

"The candid citizen must confess that if the policy of the government, upon vital questions affecting the whole people, is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the supreme court, the people will have ceased to be rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

Federal Court Powers.
The constitution specifically vests all legislative power in congress, giving that body power and authority to override the veto of the president. Federal courts are given no authority under the constitution to veto acts of congress. Since the federal courts have assumed to exercise such veto power, it is essential that the constitution shall give to the congress the right to override such judicial usurpation. The people must approve or disapprove the present exercise of legislative power by the federal courts.

Pledges of Party.
"Awakened by the dangers which menace their freedom and prosperity, the American people still retain the right and courage to exercise their sovereign control over their government. In order to destroy the economic and political power of monopoly, which has come between the people and their government, we pledge ourselves to the following principles and policies:

"1. We pledge a complete house-cleaning in the department of justice, the department of the interior, and the other executive departments. We demand that the power of the federal government be used to crush private monopoly, not foster it.

"2. We pledge recovery of the navy's oil reserve and all other parts of the public domain which have been fraudulently or illegally possessed, otherwise wrongfully transferred to the control of private interests; vigorous prosecution of all public officials, private citizens and corporations that participate in these actions; complete revision of the water power act, the general leasing act, and all other legislation relating to the public domain. We favor public ownership of the nation's water power, and the creation and development of a national super-water power system, and strict public control and permanent conservation of all the nation's resources, including coal, iron and other ores, oil and timber lands, in the interest of the people.

"3. We favor repeal of the Esch-Cummings railroad law and the fixing of railroad rates upon the basis of actual, prudent investment and cost of service. We declare for public ownership of railroads, and the safeguards against bureaucratic control, as the only final solution of the transportation problem.

Reduction of Taxes.
"4. We favor reduction of federal taxes upon individual incomes and legitimate business, limiting the exactions strictly to the requirements of the government administration with rigid economy, particularly by curtailment of the excessive eight hundred dollar annual expenditure for the army and navy in preparation for future wars; by the recovery of the hundreds of millions of dollars of treasure through fraudulent war contracts and the corrupt leasing of the public resources; and by diligent action to collect the accumulated interest upon the eleven billion dollars owing us by foreign governments.

"5. We favor the Mellon tax plan as a device to relieve multi-millionaires at the expense of other taxpayers and favor a taxation policy providing for immediate reductions upon moderate incomes, large increases in the inheritance tax rates upon large estates to prevent the indefinite accumulation by inheritance of great fortunes in a few hands; taxes upon excess profits to penalize profiteering, and complete publicity under proper safeguards, of all federal tax returns.

"6. We favor submitting to the people for their considerate judgment a constitutional amendment providing that congress may by re-enacting a statute make it effective over a judicial veto.

"7. We favor such amendment to the constitution as may be necessary to provide for the election of all federal judges, without party designation, for fixed terms not exceeding ten years, by direct vote of the people.

Reduction of Duties.
"8. We favor drastic reduction of the exorbitant duties on manufactures provided in the Fordney-McCumber tariff legislation; the prohibiting of gambling by speculators and profiteers in agricultural products; the reconstruction of the federal reserve and federal farm loan systems, so as to eliminate control by usurers, speculators and international financiers, and to make the credit of the nation available upon fair terms to all and without discrimination to business men, farmers and home builders. We favor such further legislation as may be needed to help up a dance attended by Americans and other foreigners, as a protest against the American exclusion act, were sent to three or four years. They were charged with disturbing the peace.

"9. We favor the abolition of the use of injunctions in labor disputes and declare for complete protection of the rights of farmers and industrial workers to organize, bargain collectively and conduct without hindrance cooperative enterprises. We prompt ratification of the pending child labor amendment to the constitution.

"10. We favor adjusted compensation for no veterans of the late war, not as charity, but as a matter of right, and we demand that the money necessary to meet this obligation of the government be provided by taxation upon wealth in proportion to the ability to pay, and declare our opposition to the sales tax or any other device to shift this obligation on to the backs of the poor, and to the prices and increased cost of living.

"11. We favor a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea. The government should, in the interest of the nation, take immediate action to give the northwestern states an outlet to the ocean for cargoes, without change in bulk, thus making the primary markets on the Great Lakes open to the world.

"12. Over and above constitutions and statutes and greater than all is the supreme sovereignty of the people, and with them should rest the final decision of all great questions of national policy. We favor such amendments to the federal constitution as may be necessary to provide for the direct nomination and election of the president, to extend the initiative and referendum to the federal government, and to insure a popular referendum for or against war except in case of actual invasion.

"13. We denounce the mercenary system of degraded foreign policy under recent administrations in the interest of financial imperialism, oil monopolies and international bankers, which has at times degraded our state department from its high service as a strong and kindly intermediary of defenseless governments to a trading outpost for those interested in the exploitation of weaker nations, as contrary to the will of the American people, destructive of domestic development and international harmony.

"14. We favor an active foreign policy to bring about a revision of the Versailles treaty in accordance with the terms of the armistice and to promote direct agreements with all nations to outlaw wars, abolish conscription, drastically reduce land, air and naval armaments and guarantee public referendum on peace and war."

SANE OR INSANE?

Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, leader of the insurgent group in both branches of congress, radical extremist and the republican beliver of most of the political "issues" with which the northwest is afflicted, has practically announced his independent candidacy for the presidency.

Without attempting to analyze the possible effect of the Wisconsin senator's independent candidacy on the fortunes of either of the major parties in November, if La Follette wants to appeal his views to a solemn referendum of the American people, now is as good a time as he will ever find.

La Follette is the right man to lead a radical cavalcade of government destructionists. His views are his own. He has marshalled a La Follette following behind the individual La Follette and his "party" will be "La Follette's party" with the La Follette code of political faith the platform. He is a commanding figure among his cohorts. His generalship is that of a born commander. He has made alliances with groups to which he does not subscribe, because of the fear of him: He has dominated with the will of a czar and destroyed with the elat of a buccaner.

Then why not La Follette, and why not now?

There are many conditions in America's national life of today which make it desirable that the test shall be made—and made without further argument or delay.

Congress is overrun with "blobs," and minority government, like invisible government, is eating at the vitals of constituted authority.

Radical groups are menacing whole nations of the world. This has become a government of threats, and the peace and serenity of a people who want to be left alone under the rights guaranteed to them by a republican form of government, are kept restless, uneasy, apprehensive.

Business reflects the uncertainty. Demagoguery has warped the vision and impaired the usefulness of public servants.

The fear of the ghosts of voting groups and radical groups and secret groups, stalking like Hamlet's ghost on the ramparts of Denmark, has impaired, to a measure, the efficiency of government.

civil matters, and has won a wide reputation for clear thinking and for courage. As a pulpit speaker of great power, and an upstanding figure in all worthwhile undertakings, Dr. Wilmer stands preeminently in the front ranks of Atlantans who are most dependable for cultural, moral and civic uplift.

Sewanee is to be congratulated upon the acquisition of such a member to its faculty, and the only feature that is reconciling to his Atlanta friends, is that in his new work he will find a cause to which his heart and soul are profoundly dedicated.

He is exceptionally well fitted for the greater work he is soon to undertake.

SOMETHING NEW.

There is not recorded in the political history of the United States, nor of any other democracy on earth a situation of attempted group dictatorship—without party affiliations, but based upon the blind obsession for "control"—such as is boldly and flagrantly flaunted in the faces of both parties today by the officially known "Invisible Empire."

The imperial wizard of the K. K. K. who personally controlled the Georgia "democratic" gathering from a theater box is now personally at the head of a "lobby" of sixty co-workers in Cleveland in an effort to control the republican national convention; and an entire building has been rented by the Invisible Empire for its invisible manipulations.

The wizard has scarcely seated himself upon his throne, in the shadow of the convention auditorium, until he had issued, as alleged by his publicity agents who released it to the press, an ultimatum that the Invisible Empire demanded the nomination of Senator Jim Watson, of Indiana, as the running mate of Calvin Coolidge, who will be nominated for the presidency.

Following the rebuke that Senator Watson gave to the proffered support, however, in an immediate rejoinder in which he declared he was not a serious candidate for the vice presidency, and that the Invisible Empire support was in the nature of an injury to him—the imperial wizard issued another statement disclaiming the first and declaring that his empire, of which he boasted imperial authority, had no specific candidate.

The outside party "lobby" of group dictatorship is something new at a national convention of either of the two great parties that have controlled the government of this country since its foundation.

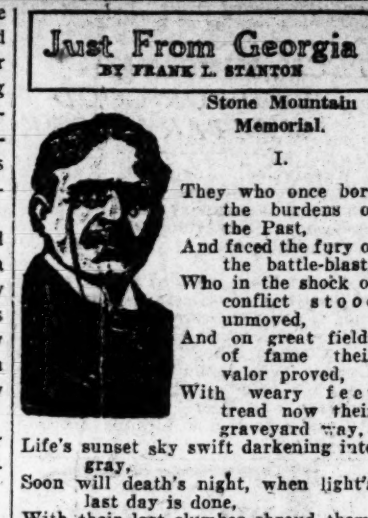

The same "lobby," it is stated, will be moved on to New York, with the complicity of a carnival show following a circus routing.

And the same dictators who sit on the invisible throne at Cleveland will shortly sit on a throne, with wielded sceptre, within the shadow of Madison Square Garden.

In the meantime, with its "O. K." stamped upon proposed candidates, with or without their consent, to help or hurt—whatever the motive may be—it is interesting to note that Mr. McAdoo, most of whose delegations from the south have been acquired, it is alleged, through the dominating influences of this invisible empire, has now become sufficiently tolerant and democratic to push religious bigotry aside and choose a Roman Catholic as his nominating orator and another as the permanent chairman of the convention, and further that his general manager has issued a statement that the views of Mr. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith, of New York, the latter also a candidate for the democratic nomination, are "one and the same as to the Ku Klux Klan."

It is interesting to conjecture in the face of these facts just how the Georgia and other Klan-controlled delegations to that convention hope to harmonize the embarrassing situation thus presented.

As Mrs. W. H. Felton so strikingly implied in a recent communication, the process of trying to blow hot and cold from the same quill will be watched with keen interest. If it can be done then science has been defied, and a new era, under an entirely new system of government and upon an entire new foundation will have developed for this nation.

They who once bore the burdens of the past, And faced the fury of the battle-blast, Who in the shock of conflict stood unmoved, And in great fields of fame their valor proved, With weary feet tread now their graveyards way, Life's sunset swift darkening into gray.

Soon will death's night, when light's last day is done, With their last slumber shroud them, one by one.

From fame-crowned Lee, down to the last, Who long for unto his grave has gone, Who fought for thee, O South! alone, With Lee.

Let all of these for aye remembered be, In stone-carved honors none of these can share, In thy heart's love, O South! keep them there, In song and story lead them, every one, O South! thy love outlives the carven stone.

—CHARLES W. HUBNER.

In the Orchard, O mockingbird, with thrilling throat, I've but this word to say: You'd never sing so sweet a note as you have now to pay!

A Hot Time Sermon. In a recent Sunday sermon our old friend, Brother Williams, voiced this word of warning to his congregation: "De weather, what's been givin' you de cold shoulder fer so long, is now comin' to red hot an' still a-heatin' in de sun an' up de steam, an' dat's de way he's doin' now. So, dar's no use preachin' long sermons, like I done, to warn you up round a col' meddler's house stove. I'll call you 'tention to dat steamin' thermometer in sight o' all o' you. It says 'Ninety in de shade,' but they ain't no shade whar Satan lives at. It's 'hundred in de hell,' an' still a-risin'! So, watch yo' step."

To the Spirit of Adventure. Long have I heard your siren call, Adventure, high adventure! You've climbed my inmost garden wall. Adventure, gay adventure! You're part and parcel of my dreams; A phantom thing—and yet it seems That you're the master of my life—Adventure, bright adventure!

The Sea. This lovely lyric of "The Sea," by Henry King, reproduced in The Indianapolis News recently: "I know the sea, when to the golden Each shoreward-rolling and triumphant wave Curves a green trembling window, and anon Like a child shivers the gift she gave In gems of splintering foam; and I have heard Her soft whisper, trod her firmest sand, Plunged her cool depths until my eyes were blurred With bliss of being, in a faery land. Yet, though she smile never so lovingly, Still the salt taste of death is on her lips.

The Right Way. You'll never get the glory 'Till you a-comin' to your soul 'Till you smelt the old thermometer And let the weather roll!

Heard on the Highway. There's so much growlin' in this old world that Thunder don't need to help any. Many a man shouts halleluia on the hilltop just before he comes rollin' down.

Mountaineer Resents Republican Action On Negro Questions. Editor: Constitution. The national republican committee has voted to seat the "black" division of the Georgia republicans, in so doing they have violated every principle of the white race and of the American people. Notwithstanding the fact that the Georgia republicans have voted to seat the "black" division of the Georgia republicans, the white race and of the American people.

Sea and Soul. Flood tide and storm, the angry billows leap, O'er the unfathomed deep: Low tide and calm, the peaceful waters lie, As still as yonder sky! Grief-stricken soul, wild frenzied as the sea, In its immensity: The measure of content in peaceful sleep, The soul's wide boundaries keep. Two mysteries of God beyond compute, Where Learning's lips are mute: The sea and soul, whose moods for ill or good No age has understood.

History of the Two-Thirds Rule in Democratic National Conventions

(Note: In view of the discussion now going on as to whether an effort will be made this year to abrogate the two-thirds rule which has always been the policy in democratic national conventions, the following article by J. L. Sheppard, of Anderson, S. C., a well known attorney of that state, will undoubtedly be of general interest. Mr. Sheppard traces the history of this rule from the time it was put into effect, in the convention of 1832, the author being Andrew Jackson, to the present date.)

By J. L. SHEPPARD. The rule requiring a two-thirds vote for the nomination of candidates for president and for vice president, the unbroken policy of the democratic party for nearly a hundred years, was first put into practice by the democratic national convention at Baltimore, in 1832. Its author was Andrew Jackson, and its immediate purpose was to keep Vice President John C. Calhoun from getting the nomination again as Jackson's running mate.

It overthrew Calhoun and set up Martin Van Buren as old Hickory's right-hand man and political heir. It materially changed the course of political history. Eighty years later, at Baltimore, it shattered the hopes of Champ Clark and raised up a new leader in the person of Woodrow Wilson. And of course of political history was again affected in perhaps a larger and more far-reaching way. The two-thirds rule was the first patent of what since came to be known as the "steam rule," an expedient that a militant majority has often called into play when stronger methods seemed necessary to carry out its point of view.

The breach between Calhoun and Jackson, who had at first been close friends and political allies, grew out of their widely conflicting views on the issue of states' rights. The trouble began with the tariff laws of 1824 and 1828, which had introduced a system of protection for home manufactures. The south was strictly an agricultural section, relying upon its unskilled and slave labor to extract a living from the soil. It had no manufacturing enterprises, and it stoutly objected to the tariff system which gave special privileges to the north, to northern manufacturers at its expense.

Jackson had gradually gone over to the loose constructionist view of the federal constitution, and his opinion had become elastic enough to accept the doctrine of protection and of international improvements. The Calhoun wing of the party clung to the theory of government laid down in the Kentucky and Virginia resolutions of 1788, affirming the right of any state to nullify any act of congress which it deemed to be unconstitutional. Following the passage of a new tariff act in 1828, which convinced the extreme southern democrats of the dead end of the settled policy of the government, the resentment felt by the Calhoun followers flared up to fever heat and culminated in the attempt at nullification by South Carolina, in 1832.

Both Uncompromising. But Calhoun had broken with Jackson sometime before the nullification of the federal constitution, and his opinion had become elastic enough to accept the doctrine of protection and of international improvements.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MCINTYRE. New York, June 10.—Rivington street is the east side's lobster belt. It hasn't the glitter of Broadway but it has its own life and its own thrills. The cellar cafes are mostly named for women. One sees much names as Mario Sylvana, Celeste and Olivia.

There are marble-topped tables and proprietors serve the food with much grace as the most accomplished French maitre d'hotel. It is food highly seasoned—many relishes, steaming soup, strange pickled oddments and black coffee in glass tumblers.

Each cafe has its two-piece orchestra, usually a piano and violin, and they took it to the east side of the river. It is a hub-bub around 6 o'clock, for patrons are mostly garment workers who must get to their work at 10 the cafes are almost deserted.

In each you see the sprinkling of white bearded Hebrew men wearing their hats and receiving all the little attentions of the waiters. They sit like ancient Buddhas puffing at Turkish cigarettes. When they do talk the buzz around them ceases.

The east side respects age. There is a certain respect for age, but there is the intangible feeling that the east side cafes prefer to cater to their own. Each tempts the appetite with a display of "meats, bolognese, yellow cheese and goey pastry doo-dads."

Outside is the Parisian touch—promenaders are strolling by in endless streams, the pavilion drawing the gutter. Hurdy-gurdy play vaudeville tunes and young hand-holding lovers sit unabashed in shadowed doorways.

It is a pleasant place—this old-world cross-section. Its people are mostly dreamers whose dreams come true, for they do not remain long on the east side. The old world is there, but there are usually men who have failed.

W. M. Harris, an inmate of the Confederate Soldiers' home, is old and feeble; he knows that his remaining days on earth can be but few, at most.

On Monday he received a document from Governor Thomas C. McRae, of Arkansas, and now he is prepared, after a life filled with the turmoil of human struggle, in war and in peace, to fold his hands in eternal rest and pass, when his day comes, to whatever awaits him on the further shore.

He is an old man, until Monday, suffered from a mental cloud that dogged his steps and made of his declining years a torment. He thought that he was an ex-convict, a man without honor, and he had been driven into regular form, in duplicate. He signed it with official seal and sent it to the old man.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

TEMPERATURE OF THE BODY. A correspondent who evidently has the unhealthy habit of taking her own temperature notices that when the atmosphere is cool her temperature is around 98.2 or 98.4, and when the atmosphere is warm, say 95 degrees, her temperature is higher, too, as much as 98.5 degrees. She says it seems to be different with other people and she wonders whether it is a personal idiosyncrasy or an indication of anything wrong.

One of many queer notions about health is that we should never keep a clinical thermometer around the house and never mind our temperature unless the doctor insists on knowing it. It is a very common error, and then let the nurse take it and keep it to herself and the doctor. I have a crude fancy that it never helps much to know what the body temperature is. It may be necessary for the doctor to measure the temperature in certain cases, but I mean it never does the layman any good to know his temperature with a thermometer. On the contrary, the unwise use of a clinical thermometer in the home causes a great deal of unnecessary worry and alarm. I am assuming that the doctor for health, a little worry, provided the worrying is in the right direction. But worrying over a few points of variation in the temperature of the body is worrying in the wrong direction.

The temperature of cold-blooded animals is below that of the surrounding air, and the reptiles, amphibians and fishes. The temperature of warm-blooded animals is above that of the surrounding air—birds, mammals (including man). But the body temperature of birds and mammals is independent of the temperature of the air, or practically independent of it, whereas the body temperature of reptiles, amphibians and fishes varies within wide limits, with changes of the temperature of the surrounding environment. Their temperature is almost as low as the water or air around them in the winter, and almost as high as the temperature of the surroundings in summer. Not so with birds, mammals and man. The body temperature of these animals is more or less constant, and almost as high as the temperature of the surroundings in summer. The body temperature of these animals is more or less constant, and almost as high as the temperature of the surroundings in summer.

The two-thirds rule, although framed for a particular purpose, continued in force after the immediate occasion for its adoption had passed. It has never been repealed. It acted as a boomerang, however, against its first beneficiary. After serving one term as president, Jackson was re-elected in 1835. In the warm way of the day, it sidetracked Calhoun permanently and started Van Buren on the high road to the presidency by the vice-presidential route.

Van Buren was again a candidate in 1844. A large majority of the delegates at Baltimore pledged to his selection. But Van Buren's views on the annexation of Texas were not acceptable to the slave states, which combined and secured a reaffirmation of the two-thirds rule and thus kept Van Buren from getting the nomination. The prize went to James K. Polk, who was elected the following November.

It has often been said that Champ Clark was the first and only candidate to receive a majority of votes in a democratic national convention and then fail to win the nomination. This is not correct, for Van Buren shared the same fate, and the latter's defeat was a measure of poetic justice in being destroyed by the same weapon of expediency that he and his friends had so cunningly devised for the destruction of a political foe.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

A Magnificent German. Every since Bernhardt wrote "World Power or Downfall" we have grown accustomed to the charge that Germans lack idealism and that their superman idea is the embodiment of gross materialism. Yet how much idealism the English master of the death ray, who was willing to let his invention to any country that would pay him the highest price? He was even willing to sell it to a foreign power, which might in time have utilized it to destroy his own mother country. But now comes the German, Fritz Kreisler, with an offer to devote his money-making powers to the raising of a fund to BUY AND BURY THE INVENTOR'S SECRET. Fritz Kreisler is a man of feeling and a genius. As an artist and sensitive soul he is disturbed by the thought of a ray that will scorch armies off the earth and melt battlefields. It will perhaps be difficult to blast the secret of the inventor away from him. The more the man is moved by desire for money. But even though the Kreisler proposal is perhaps impracticable, it is a beautiful thought, worthy of a great man and a great nation. Kreisler is a true type of superman.

The Yellow Menace. What is the upshot going to be of things in Japan where indignation over the exclusion bill is running wild? There will not be war. Not at this time. Of course friendly relations will be merely formal. Seventeen years of rapprochement between Japan and the United States have been shattered. Japan is going along warily. She will seek a new alignment of powers. In the first place China will be conciliated. An attempt will be made to establish Japanese rule in the Asiatic continent. The wily Japanese are not going to repeat the mistake of making drastic demands as they did at the time of the "Twenty-One Demands." By a patient process of Japanization of native races and an intense exploitation of natural resources, Japan is going to build the formidable empire in the Orient of the Orient. This may take many years. But all Japs are united on the program. When the program is completed, the world will be in the open and challenge the world.

There Is No God But Mafu! During the war, when the Germans carried away priceless tapestries, paintings and pieces of sculpture from the invaded districts of France and Belgium, their colonial troops followed the same policy in the African field. In Liberia they carried off the stone god Mafu and shipped him to Hamburg. A few weeks ago a Liberian was strolling through the Hamburg colonial museum when he suddenly became transfixed with the homage of his veterans stands a man. While Caesar was dressed in a white toga, this man wears a black silk shirt and a white necktie. The incident was reported to the government of Liberia and Massacoi, official Liberian representative at Berlin, has been instructed to ask for the return of Mafu to his native jungle temple. Some evangelical body in Germany took the opportunity of asking the Liberians if they would not sooner accept some more miserable statue. The answer was decidedly in the negative. They want their own god back. The Liberians would not exchange Mafu for all the missionaries in the world.

Boycott To Fight Pardon or Parole For E. C. Stigall. Solicitor General John A. Boykin will resist any effort made to secure a pardon or parole for E. C. Stigall, sentenced to serve 15 years for the slaying of W. H. Hanes, private detective, he announced Tuesday. Stigall is now in the penitentiary following conviction of voluntary manslaughter. Mrs. Hanes, widow of the slain man, declared she also would fight application for parole, which will be made next month to the prison commission, according to announcement of Attorney Walter L. McCraw, counsel for Stigall.

French President, Repudiated, Quits His Office Today. BY JOHN J. O'BRIEN. Paris, June 10.—President Alexandre Millerand announced that he will resign from office Wednesday, following his repudiation by the radical-dominated senate and chamber of deputies.

The decision was announced in an official communique from the Elysee palace Tuesday after the stopgap government of Premier Francois-Millerand, hurried into office as a phase of Millerand's bitter fight against the vicious radicals, was overthrown when the chamber voted a lack of confidence by a vote of 329 to 214.

The communique stated that Millerand had asked the members of the cabinet to remain in power, although they offered to resign after the defeat. The cabinet was communicated to the senate and chamber at the opening of the afternoon session Wednesday. After Millerand's resignation, the senate and chamber will meet in joint session at the historic room of Versailles to select a new president.

The well-designed machine built up by the radical bloc for ousting the president moved with clock-like precision Tuesday. In both the senate and the chamber, Millerand was subjected to decisive parliamentary defeats. Only one course remained.

Millerand went down fighting. Despite the radical strength in both houses of parliament, and the known determination to drive him from the office he has held for nearly a year, he made a stirring plea for the prestige and the authority of the executive, and declared that he refused to desert the post. In a message to parliament Tuesday he stopped for political motives, the president would file a question of playing with parties. You will find me to desert such a post. I have refused to desert such a post.

Restraint Order Against Electing Chief Is Signed. An order restraining the city of Atlanta and its city council from electing a chief of police, similar to the order signed Saturday by Judge E. D. Thomas, in which he restrained the police committee of the city council, was signed by Judge Thomas Tuesday.

Attorney Arminius Wright, not satisfied with the text of the order of Saturday, presented the court with another order, embracing every branch of the city government that might feel disposed to hold an election.

The restraining orders prevent an election until the courts determine the desirability of the election. The decision of the courts is expected to be made by May 10, discharging him from office, "my post."

OPPORTUNITY SCHOOL TO CONTINUE WORK

Atlanta's Opportunity school was given continued lease on life by the board of education Tuesday in voting, 8 to 5, against the resolution by Rev. Jack Penn which sought to abolish it.

Representatives of the Federation of Trades, Atlanta Woman's club, Parent-Teacher association and other organizations appeared before the board to oppose abolition of the school. Commissioners Gaines and Meixell urged that the "door of opportunity" be kept open to adults.

Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, commissioner from the sixth ward, led the fight in favor of the Penn resolution, which would close the school, and annually in educating adults along many lines, including beauty culture, and also she would fight application for parole, which will be made next month to the prison commission, according to announcement of Attorney Walter L. McCraw, counsel for Stigall.

Stigall, former policeman, shot Hanes, Ernest Stanton and J. B. Kirk at Houston and Courtland streets in August, 1923. He is now on De Kalb county farm, having been assigned to that county by the prison commission.

Urges Abolishment. Dr. R. N. Eubanks, urging abolition of the school, said that City Attorney James L. Mayson had ruled that the city legally could not appropriate money to educate adults and that, further, he did not remember one single instance in which the board had displayed in concrete way a desire to economize.

The vote was: to abolish the school, Commissioners Morris, Eubanks, Penn and Nelson; to maintain it, Commissioners Starnes, Gaines, Meixell, Therrell, McLendon, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Hess, Hancock.

MRS. HELEN LIEBMAN FILES DIVORCE SUIT

Alleging that her husband, Jay Liebman, made $20,000 a year and was amount "insufficient to keep her in her accustomed social position," Mrs. Helen Liebman filed suit for divorce and alimony in Fulton superior court Tuesday. Judge E. D. Thomas signed a writ of ex parte, forbidding Liebman to leave the state, pending trial of the alimony part of the case.

Mrs. Liebman's suit was filed by the law firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman.

STEARNES YOUTH DIES AT HOSPITAL. William Lafayette Stearnes, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stearnes, of 64 McDaniel street, Tuesday afternoon at a local hospital. He is survived by his father and mother; three brothers, E. E. James, R. and Corbin Stearnes; three grandsons, Mr. M. E. Stearnes, of Atlanta, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilson, of LaGrange. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. Atty & Lowndes in charge.

GEORGIA U. TRUSTEES IN SESSION THURSDAY

Athens, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—This week will close class activities at the University of Georgia, and usher in commencement exercises. The senior class will be given its final examinations Tuesday, and Thursday will see the end of all examinations. The board of trustees will hold its first session of the year Thursday in the War Memorial building, which will be formally presented to them during the commencement exercises. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached next Sunday by Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of Athens. Governor Clifford M. Walker, Judge Enoch H. Calloway, of Augusta; W. D. Anderson, of Macon, are other speakers for the commencement exercises.

PAULA CIRCUIT BAR ASSOCIATION FORMED

Dawson, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—Following an elaborate barbecue dinner tendered attorneys and court officers of the Pauline circuit by Judge M. C. Youmans at his home here today, the Pauline Circuit Bar association was organized. J. W. Harris, of Columbus, was named president, and Warren B. Parks, also of this city, secretary and treasurer. The following executive committee with a representative from each county, was appointed: Terrell, W. H. Gur; Seminole, R. H. House; Miller, P. D. Rich; Randolph, R. A. Patterson; Clay, E. King; Early, A. H. Gray. Dr. William C. Lovett, of Dawson, presiding elder of the American district, South Georgia conference, was elected chairman.

The guests of Judge Youmans numbered about 50, and included attorneys and court officers from the counties of Seminole, Clay, Early, Randolph, Miller, Quitman and Terrell.

Epworth Assembly In First Public Meet at Oxford

Oxford, Ga., June 10.—The first public meeting of the fourth annual assembly of the North Georgia Epworth league conference here was held tonight, with Dr. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of the Oxford church, as principal speaker. His subject, "Money and Character," was in keeping with the general theme of the assembly, which is the Christian use of money. The entire morning today was given over to study classes, and the afternoon to a quiet hour, committees and cabinet meeting, competitive athletics, and mass games. Nearly 300 delegates had registered up to tonight.

The opening meeting of the session, held Monday night, was featured by an address by Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, Atlanta, and president of the Epworth board of the North Georgia conference. Other speakers were Rev.

W. G. Crawley, presiding elder of the Oxford district; Miss Mary Finch, of the Starrett Bible and Training school; and Miss Ida Barnes, assistant secretary of missions in the central office at Nashville.

Executive officers of the league are: President, Dr. W. E. Coleman, Atlanta; secretary, Albert J. Will, Atlanta; treasurer, Harvey C. Porter, Emory university; Era Agnew, Miss Grace McCree, Woodstock; life service superintendent, Miss Earline Dowda, East Point; junior superintendent, ent, Mrs. W. E. Coleman, Atlanta; intermediate superintendent, Mrs. G. O. Cook, Atlanta.

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR J. W. ROBERTSON

Thomaston, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—Funeral services for John W. Robertson, a prominent Thomaston peach grower, farmer, and lumberman, who died suddenly at his home here Monday following a stroke of apoplexy, were held today from the Thomaston Baptist church. The mayor and aldermen of Thomaston acted as pallbearers.

Mr. Robertson, who was 65 years old, was a member of the Thomaston city council. He is survived by his widow, three sons, Arthur, Barto W., and Nobson Robertson, of Thomaston, and Mrs. Ethel Spillers, of Macon. Ten Chicago high schools have swimming tanks and include swimming in their course of training.

Woman's Missionary Meeting at Sparta Comes to End Today

Sparta, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—The Woman's Missionary convention of the Augusta district convened with the Sparta Methodist church Monday night for the first session, with delegates and visitors from all parts of the Augusta district in attendance. Mrs. M. H. Hendon, of Augusta, district secretary, presided.

The program for the meeting last night follows: Devotional, Rev. J. A. Partridge; greetings from Woman's Missionary society, Sparta, Miss Claude Middlebrooks; greetings from sister societies, Mrs. Lula Rives; response for district, Mrs. F. L. Layton; a lecture by Mrs. Wallace Rogers; benediction. The convention will continue through today and tomorrow.

The entertainment committee is composed of Mrs. G. W. Rives, Mrs. L. H. Berry, Mrs. E. A. Rozier, Sr., Mrs. Waldron Middlebrooks, Mrs. J. I. Spangston, Mrs. Pierce Middlebrooks, Misses Lula Alfred and Julia Pierce, Mrs. H. R. Garrett, Mrs. G. P. Moore, Mrs. Harry Binion and Miss Marion Graves. Members of the committee for soliciting homes are Mrs. W. L. Garrett, Mrs. Maude Malone, Mrs. H. R. Garrett and Miss Marion Graves. The entertainment committee, assisted by other ladies of the church, will serve lunches at the church both days the convention is in session.

State High School Contests Will Open At Athens Today

Athens, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—What promises to be the most interesting and enthusiastic high school contest ever held in Georgia opens here Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock for a two-day's meet.

Eighty-six high schools will be represented at the meet, and hundreds of visitors will be in the city to witness the various events in literary, athletic and industrial contests. Winners of the various district contests will be here to take part in the event. Practically every county in the state will be represented, more than 400 pupils and teachers are expected. The University of Georgia will be host to the delegates.

The complete program for the convention follows: Wednesday, June 11, 8:30—Recitation contest. Thursday, June 12, 9 a. m.—Meeting of state executive committee and teachers at Peabody hall. Thursday, 11:45 a. m.—Declamation contest. Thursday, 4:30 p. m.—Preliminary debate in Peabody hall. Friday, June 13, 9 a. m.—Meeting of executive committee. Friday—Cooking contest, Soule hall. Friday 11:30—Debate and delivery of prizes at University chapel.

Small Peaches For Local Users, State Growers

Macon, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—The expected large movement of peaches today did not materialize because the growers were compelled to cull a large percentage of the early linepeaches. This was caused by the first frost proving immature, soft, and bruised.

The official government estimate was released today, the prediction for Georgia this season being nearly two million bushels more than last year. The exact estimate for the state is 7,150,000 bushels, as compared with last year's yield of 5,716,000 bushels. That the growers must not to local use all small size peaches, was the consensus of opinion of officials of the Georgia Peach exchange, the Market News bureau, Gentile Brothers, and the Federated Fruit and Vegetable exchange.

"Growers must discontinue shipping all 2-3 size layers, 2-2 size layers and 2-2 eight layers packs at present if they are to realize any returns at all," said V. D. Callahan, local representative of the United States department of agriculture. "At present these sizes promise a return less than the cost of freight and packing. The producers will find it necessary to cull a large percentage of early shipments so as to make their shipments meet the U. S. grade No. 1."

DAWSON BOND ELECTION IS SET FOR JULY 11

Dawson, Ga., June 10.—(Special.)—A bond election, ordered by the city council of Dawson, will be held July 11, at which time voters will decide on the proposed $40,000 bond issue, the money to be used for the purpose of installing new water mains in various sections of the city and for extension of mains where found necessary for protection of city property. A survey was made recently to determine where new mains were needed, how much of the present system needed replacement, the cost of same, and other details, and following the report to the city council, it was decided to order a bond election.

It is generally thought that the election will result in carrying of the bond issue and if it is voted work on the new project will begin immediately.

CHARLOTTE AVIATOR KILLED IN TAIL SPIN

Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich., June 10.—Lieutenant John N. Wilson, pilot of the 27th aero squadron stationed at Selfridge field, was killed today when the plane he was testing, preparatory to flying to the land to participate in maneuvers for the entertainment of the republican national convention, went into a tail spin and plunged from a distance of 1,000 feet.

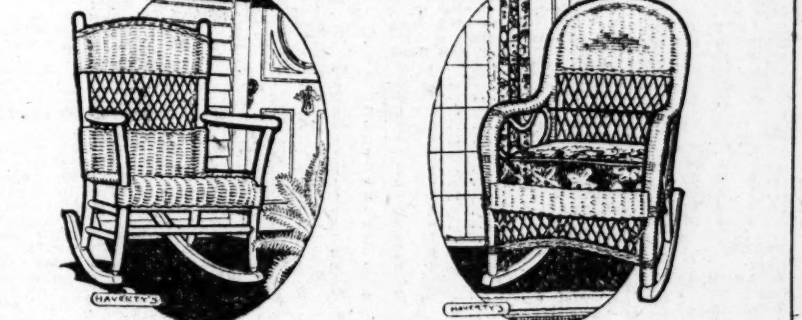

Lieutenant Wilson, whose home was in Charlotte, N. C., was married. He was 28 years old and recently came here from the Philippine Islands. Three other planes left the field for Cleveland late today.

Lovely Wedding Unites Miss Smith And John McEachern

Of wide interest was the marriage of Miss Sara Smith, of Jackson, Ga., and John Newton McEachern, of Atlanta, which took place at high noon at the bride's home in Jackson.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry H. Jones in the presence of the immediate families of the young couple.

Pink gladioli and palms were used in profusion in decorating the spacious reception rooms, and the ceremony was performed before an altar of palms and similar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Edward Lee Smith. She wore a suit of Cobert cloth and a brown straw hat trimmed with tan suede. Her corsage was of valley lilies and orchids.

An informal breakfast followed the ceremony. The breakfast table was overlaid with lace. In the center was a silver basket of sweetheart roses and valley lilies. Encircling this were tall silver candlesticks holding pink unshaded tapers.

Miss Vera Smith, sister of the bride, wore a model of brown satin.

Mrs. McEachern was gowned in tan georgette, trimmed with brown beads. Mrs. Rankin Manley, sister of the groom, wore peach color georgette.

Mr. and Mrs. McEachern left during the afternoon for a motor trip through the New England states and Canada. On their return August 1, they will reside with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Newton McEachern, Sr., in Ansley Park.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. White, Jr., of Philadelphia, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pugh. The guests included Mrs. Wolff, Mr. and Mrs. Pugh, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sprafkin, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Spier had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Carling and Mrs. Ben Ragdale and Leon McGrady, of Fall River, Mass.

Forming a congenial group were Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin, John R. Simpson, Jr., Dr. J. G. Williams, Captain Horace Smith and others.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. White, Jr., of Philadelphia, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ryman dined together.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Harrington entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. K. T. Van Pelt and other guests.

Dr. N. M. Owensby entertained a group of friends, who included Mrs. Annie Adair Foster, Miss Laura Pearce, Dr. Champ Holmes, Dr. Owensby and a few others.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Allen and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith formed a congenial party.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Noble had as their guests Mr. R. H. Butters, Miss Jamie Cooper, Lauren Foreman and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cowles, Mrs. Neville L. Henley, of Williamsburg, Va., Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hockaday formed a party having dinner together.

Others entertaining were: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Allen, of Buford; C. A. Long, W. B. McBurney, J. C. Watkins, William White, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Appleby, Dr. James Wood, B. J. Daniel, William Akers, J. D. Dunbar, F. H. Bosler, Grady Black, C. H. Jones, F. D. Grant, Macon Johnson, J. Lawton Ellis, Herbert Porter.

Mrs. Mathews

To Present Artists.

Mrs. Rose L. Mathews will present several well-known Atlanta artists including Mrs. Sam H. Franklin, soprano, Mrs. Chas. Maddox, soprano, Master Dennon McCormack, violinist, and Miss Maud Eberhardt, pianist, in addition to Master Phillip Leide, twelve-year-old pianist, formerly of New York and Florida, now of Atlanta. Critics of New York have predicted a great future as a concert pianist for young Leide in technique, style and touch, he is a true artist.

Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. Maddox, Miss Eberhardt and Master McCormack are all members of Atlanta's musical world who are popular with the Atlanta public. The program promises to be an interesting one.

Mrs. J. E. Hays Is Nominated As Federation Secretary

Los Angeles, June 10.—A lively contest in the balloting tomorrow for the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs was indicated at tonight's meeting of the biennial session.

The nominating committee prepared its ballots for the two candidates for the offices of president and second vice president; but from the floor came an additional nomination in each case. Mrs. W. S. Jennings, of Florida, for the high office, and Mrs. John Ruhl, of West Virginia, for the other, were the write-in candidates named from the floor.

The ballot, as submitted by the committee, includes the following candidates:

President, Mrs. Wallace Perham, of Montana, and Mrs. John D. Sherman, of Colorado. First vice president, Mrs. Edward Franklin White, of Indiana; recording secretary, Mrs. J. E. Hays, of Georgia; treasurer, Florence C. Floore, of Texas.

The convention heard from Mary I. Murphy, of Chicago, chairman of the division of child welfare, a strong plea for child's right in its childhood years, as well as those of labor. Miss Murphy urged improved educational advantages and better protection from fire for children in school as well as those forced to earn a livelihood in factories.

Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of St. Louis, chairman of the division of health, told the delegates of the part the federation had taken and is taking in protecting public health, in assisting in the fight against tuberculosis and other similar activities.

A resolution submitted today would ask President Coolidge to appoint a commission of impartial experts to investigate the affairs of the Indian bureau at Washington, with a view to its reorganization and "insuring of justice to the Indians."

Another resolution presented today would call upon congress for appropriations necessary to hospitalize women disabled in the war service to their country. This document called attention to the hospitalization work being carried on for male veterans and the almost complete lack of similar care for women who had served their country in wartime.

The upper Mississippi valley conference, representing club women of 12 states, brought forward a resolution condemning indiscriminate propaganda by speakers and clubs favoring pacifism and disloyalty and presented in the guise of the peace movement.

Peace, the resolution pointed out, was what the women of the country wished, but it also said peace was not wanted at the price of the nation's security. This resolution was signed by Mrs. C. T. Palmer, of Illinois; Mrs. Charles R. Fox, of Ohio, and Frances Whitley, of Iowa.

The biennial convention exercised one of its prerogatives today in nominating Mrs. Eugene Riley, of Charlotte, N. C., as one of the federation's honorary vice-presidents.

Mrs. Lott Warren, Jr., Is Elected President of Junior League

Mrs. Lott Warren, Jr., charming young matron, who was unanimously elected president of the Atlanta Junior league at the meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club.

Mrs. Lott Warren, Jr., popular and charming young society matron, was unanimously elected president of the Atlanta Junior league at the meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club.

Mrs. Warren has taken an active part in the league for several years, and is one of its valued members. She possesses a charming manner which, together with executive ability and efficiency, assures the league of having as its leader one who will accomplish extensive achievements during the coming year.

The other officers elected were Miss Henrietta Tupper, first vice president; Mrs. William Huger, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Freeman, treasurer; Mrs. W. Eugene Harrington, recording secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Willet, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Jack Dixsonway, president, presided at the meeting, which was opened by the reading of the yearly reports by the committee chairmen, including Mrs. Grover Middlebrooks, Christmas basket committee; Mrs. Henry Newman, milk fund committee; Mrs. DeSales Harrison, free school library; Miss Martha Boynton, child welfare; Mrs. William Huger, hospital No. 48, and others.

These reports were intensely interesting and showed the growth and advancement achieved yearly by the league in its program of social and civic service.

Mrs. Edwin Peoples and Mrs. Lott Warren, who represented the Atlanta league at the national Junior league conference held recently in Denver, Colo., gave entertaining and attractive accounts of the business and social side of the conference. They reported of the changes and instructions offered by various leagues as a means of betterment to the present program.

Mrs. Warren announced that there would be a meeting of the newly-elected board and the retiring board at her home Tuesday morning, June 17, at 10:30 o'clock, for the purpose of outlining plans for next year's work.

The administration of Mrs. Dixsonway, the retiring president of the league, was marked by many events accomplished by the organization, notable among which was the Junior league carnival in April, which was a distinct success. The widespread charitable work of the league has also been carried on during the past year with growing zeal and effectiveness, and the league gave a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Dixsonway for her untiring efforts and splendid accomplishments during her leadership.

Flag Day Call Issued to Clubs.

National Flag day is June 14. Throughout the United States programs will be dedicated to the flag of this country on that day and citizenship committees of clubs belonging to the general federation of women's clubs urge observance of the day.

Mrs. Charlton Battle, of Columbus, chairman of the department of American citizenship of the Georgia federation, calls the attention of Georgia clubwomen to the duty they owe their organization on this day and asks that programs given at that time place special emphasis on proper respect for the flag.

Mrs. Samuel Inman, while director for Georgia in the general federation, procured and had distributed through the state to club presidents a leaflet from the National American Legion entitled "Flag of the United States, the living symbol of our great republic—How to display it—how to respect it."

Sunday Schools To Meet Thursday.

There will be an all-day Sunday school institute for the two Atlanta districts of Methodist Sunday schools at Wesley Memorial church on Thursday, June 12, beginning at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The program committee has arranged a delightful program. Lunch is available in the building for 25 cents.

DE. TRAPROCK'S CLEVER CAT.

The expression, "the cat's whiskers," has always amused me," said my good friend, Dr. Walter E. Traprock, "but few people know of its origin."

"The first cat to be referred to in this way belonged to me. The whiskers belonged to the cat."

"This cat, whose name was Carlin Chapman, used to spend hours on the bank of the Housatonic river peering at the stream. The tragedy of a cat's life is that her favorite food lives in an element of which she is in mortal terror—water."

"Then, one day, my cat acted so cheerful like that my curiosity was aroused and I followed her to the river. There I saw an amazing sight."

"She had taught herself to fish with her whiskers, which were long and very strong. Her first care was to curl them about her tail, forming a hook at the end, which she actually baited with a cricket, caught in the grass. Then, lying on the upper side of a willow branch, she let her whiskers float on the surface. It was fascinating to see the lightning flash of her paws when she had lured a fish within reach."

"Gluttony, however, was her end. Full of fish and pride, she fell asleep one day, forgetting to unlure herself. A big pickerel yanked her into the water and she was drowned. The fish doubtless ate her, for they are fond of cat as cats are of fish, though they get much less of it."

EGGSACTLY!

"John, do you know that in my native country it used to be so hot that we had to keep ice in our coops where the chickens laid so that the eggs wouldn't spoil?"

"It's! That's nothing. In our country we had to feed the laying hens crushed ice to keep them from laying hard-boiled eggs."

OUR OWN

Department.

John Elkins: If you were born on June 11, John, the dominant influence in your life is Taurus, the sign of the bull. People born under that sign can be identified by their genial manners, dark red neckties, and an overflow of language.

They are very athletic, getting a great deal of exercise by jumping to conclusions and dodging creditors. Yet, despite their strong constitutions, whenever you try to borrow money, they suffer noticeably from poor circulation; in other words, cold feet.

Taurus people, however, are always up and doing, doing, in fact, everything they can, and this democratic feeling makes all classes interesting to them.

HOW TO WRITE WHAT WE WANT.

Poetry.

Breathes there a reader who doesn't imagine he can write poetry? We doubt it.

In writing the short humorous or light verse we want, you must start with these things in mind:

A definite idea, an outline or plan of how you will develop it, and a good knowledge of rhyme and meter.

If you have all but the last, get together with someone who can execute your ideas for you.

You are an excellent verse writer, lacking fresh, salable ideas, find those who are fertile with them.

Clip and save Fun Shop verse. It illustrates what is best—and what we want.

(Tomorrow: Anecdotes.)

INFLAMMABLE.

Ethel: "Yes, that's what comes of fooling with these parlor matches."

—Harry J. Williams.

GUILT

BY HENRY JAMES FORMAN

"Certainly," answered Summers.

"Go on, McKenna."

"Well," pursued McKenna, "one of those men had a very friendly interest in a young woman. He had known her quite some time. He liked her, though he wouldn't exactly call him- self in love with her. It was one of those interests or attachments that may, or may not, lead to marriage. You follow me, Mr. Summers?"

"I follow you," said Summers.

"You're not going too fast for me, either?"

"No. I know I'm not," said McKenna. "But I mean to make myself very clear. Well, the years went on, still this affair between this man and this young woman amounted to nothing."

"Why should it, Mr. Summers? The man liked the girl, admired her, thought highly of her. But he was comfortable where he was. He was no bantam, Mr. Summers, no college boy, ready to go off his nut about a girl that takes his fancy. He was a mature man, successful, absorbed in his professional work, and, as I said, comfortable."

"What about the girl?" interposed Summers.

"That's what I'm coming to," responded McKenna. "That girl was a good deal younger than the man. She had fallen in love with him. He was the one man in the world for her, and all that kind of thing."

McKenna paused with his gaze fixed upon the eyes of Summers.

"I am listening," Summers shifted impatiently, and glanced away.

"If she were five or ten years older and more experienced," pursued McKenna, "maybe she'd have taken some drastic action to settle the matter, one way or the other."

"But so far as men are concerned it's a case of arrested development with her. She met him in her early twenties, and never had been able to see another man since. Still she waited and waited, and still the man kept coming to see her on the platform of a very nice friendship. But it didn't get her anywhere. See? It occurred to her, Mr. Summers, that the friend with whom he was living was instrumental in making a pretty good home without any wife. Loneliness is what drives many men to marriage. The girl in question decided that the man was not lonely enough."

"Then what?" demanded Summers, with a somewhat ironical smile, denoting he was well aware of McKenna's drift.

"Then, sir, the girl began to brood on the subject. She was no fool, that girl, and no flighty miss. She wanted a real home, with a husband, children, and love. These are the only things that mean anything to most women. Well, she came to realize that the friend of the man she loved was the one obstacle to her desire. That friend, Mr. Summers, though he didn't know it, became her greatest enemy.

"Enemy of the whole human race, so far as she is concerned," nodded Summers.

"Exactly so," commented McKenna triumphantly. "It became a fixed idea. If that fellow died, Mr. Summers, and it would leave her man alone, there wasn't a doubt in her mind as to whom the man would come for consolation."

"And then she—"

"Yes, then Mr. Summers," McKenna caught him up with dramatic vehemence "then she killed that friend, in her mind. She saw a picture of all the unhappiness she was missing in life."

"Then she got a chance," he ran on almost breathlessly, rising from his chair, and bending over the desk toward Summers. "Her lover called."

convict, recently escaped from Sing Sing, had been fool enough to think it safe, after three or four weeks of liberty, to come to see his mother. That bird was in his mother's room right then.

"The old woman in her trouble didn't know what to do. She left the girl alone, and went back to her room."

"Well, Mr. Summers," McKenna began anew, more slowly and deliberately, "there, behind a certain door, was sleeping the one man who stood in the way of this girl's happiness."

"Mr. Summers," McKenna spoke now in syllables, rather than in words, "in less than sixty seconds that girl could enter that room, stab the sleeping man, hide the dagger, case, and all in her dress, and be back when the housekeeper returned."

"Damn you, McKenna," cried Summers, jumping from his chair, and gripping the detective by both lapels, with a look that showed he would rather have gripped his throat. "I could kill you for this! But as a prosecuting attorney, I'm bound to say you are damnable convincing."

"Do you think I like this turn of the case, Mr. Summers?" McKenna expostulated fiercely. "I hate it same as you do! But I am a detective engaged to follow where the evidence leads me. And that is where I've got to, Mr. Summers." He breathed hard as one after a great exertion, and sank back into his chair.

"Well," demanded Summers almost savagely after a silence, "what do you intend to do now?"

"Go right to Mr. Bradbury and put before him what I have just told you," quietly answered McKenna.

"A sweet job you'll have," snapped Summers. "I wish you joy."

Despite the shock to his nerves when Bradbury learned of the charge against Virginia Oliver, despite the impact of the discovery that was like a mighty physical blow at all his stamina, Bradbury's powerful will soon enabled him to rally, and to face the situation with a semblance of calmness and control.

"Larry," he declared solemnly, "whatever the appearance may be, I want you to know that Virginia Oliver is innocent of this, that she knows no more about it than you or I."

Slowly he walked over to the wall of the living room, drew up a chair facing the wall, swung open one of the panels in the wainscoting, and began to work at the combination of a small iron safe that the panel disclosed.

As the door swung open he began to fumble in one of the small drawers and brought forth a bundle of letters with an elastic about them.

"Virginia!" he murmured again, and stretched forth his hand into the drawer of the safe as if to bring out more letters. On a sudden a cloud seemed to sweep his features.

What his hand brought forth was not a bundle of letters but a red morocco leather case with a dagger in it.

Like one electrified, he leaped up, throwing back the chair. Then he stood amazed, petrified, staring at the dagger. With the hand that held the letters he slowly drew the dagger from the case. The blade was stained and rusty.

There Are No Weak Links in the Classified Chain

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. That is why years of scientific study have been devoted to perfecting The Constitution's A-B-C Classified Section—because we have realized that a little weakness would affect the strength of the whole structure.

All these years of study and experiments have disclosed the best ways of building up the A-B-C Classified Section into a perfect catalogue of opportunity. Such decidedly strong features as alphabetical indexing and numerical classification were not adopted until it was proven that they added greatly to reader convenience in the quick finding of different opportunities.

And the same is true of the censorship of ads and of all other features which give this section its total strength.

The classified section has no weak links—and there will be none in your own affairs if you follow it regularly!

How Will They Pay?

By the sacrifices of parents and the bounty of the state or its philanthropists, a thousand young men and women go out from the Georgia colleges this month as full fledged graduates.

They enjoy an opportunity which is not open to more than one in a hundred of their fellow citizens. What will they do to pay their obligation to society?

If they do as well as the graduates who went out before them and if they find worthwhile work in Georgia the state will have no reason to complain.

The greatest democracy in the world is that of education. It is confined to no class and its blessings extend to all, but it is not out of order to remind the graduates that their education is only begun when they leave college. They can learn something from the lowliest son of toil.

Reduction in Costs Enables Railroads To Operate—Downs

That railway service is now being sold at rates relatively lower than before the war is the statement of L. A. Downs, president of the Central of Georgia railway, who furnishes interesting comparisons as to rates and costs.

Mr. Downs shows that coal, materials and supplies, taxes, labor, locomotive, cars, and in fact everything that railroads must spend money for in order to produce transportation has increased from 92 to 118 per cent in cost in the last 10 years, while rate increases have been but 41 per cent for freight and 44 per cent for passenger fares during the same period.

The president declares that only increased efficiency and the installation of cost-reducing facilities have made it possible for the railroads to serve the public at the rates which they are receiving. He says they have borrowed many millions of dollars to improve their properties and have done this because of their faith in the fairness of the American people.

Records of the Central of Georgia show that coal which cost $1 in 1913, cost $2.15 in 1923; that for every dollar of taxes 10 years ago the railroad is paying $1.92 now, and that the increase in labor required $2.05 now for every dollar 10 years ago.

The board authorized the committee to find whether long time options on land around the school could be obtained in order to expand it to the size necessary for a junior high school. Definite action is not to be taken before the regular July meeting.

Under the committee's plan, all Hill street pupils would be divided this fall among the Slaton, Grant Park and Fair street schools. The 150 pupils could be housed in the three with about six additional portable classrooms and the rearrangement would save five elementary teachers, it was stated.

The 600 seventh graders who have just been promoted, for whom no housing arrangements have been made, could be accommodated in the present Hill street plant with another six portable classroom units.

The present Joke Smith Junior High enrollment, housed in part of the high school plant, will remain in the same quarters for the next year until the Hill street plant can be expanded to care for all three principal graders at Hill street, while the principal would direct affairs at the Garnett street plant.

Commissioner Slate's committee was authorized at the May meeting of the board to select a suitable site for the Joke Smith Junior High. It is intended to abandon the entire present Commercial High plant, which is not owned by the city, as soon as the new Girls' High school, which is being improved for the girls students of Commercial High and the girls of Girls' High. The Joke Smith students were housed in the old plant purely as a temporary emergency measure this year.

Commissioner Slate said that the rearrangement of Hill street pupils would not inconvenience any of them and would not make it necessary for any child to walk more than half a

NEW JUNIOR HIGH, IS BOARD PLAN

Hill street school is to be abolished as an elementary school and its plant made the nucleus of a new Joke Smith Junior High school, under the plan submitted to the board of education Tuesday by the special committee headed by Commissioner W. C. Slate.

The board authorized the committee to find whether long time options on land around the school could be obtained in order to expand it to the size necessary for a junior high school. Definite action is not to be taken before the regular July meeting.
